Archway announces schedule of fall events

Kearney, Neb. – The Archway schedule of community events that will occur this fall was released today. Included in the schedule are Concrete Cares and a zombie-themed run as well as new events The Archway will coordinate.

“Our goal is to make sure Kearney and the surrounding communities have opportunities all year to enjoy The Archway. We’ve been fortunate to have local groups work with us to put on some unique and fun events this fall and we came up with a few new events to make sure we have a full event schedule this fall,” said Events Coordinator Kara Stevens.

The Archway will kick off its fall schedule with the annual cancer awareness and fundraiser event, Concrete Cares on Sept. 27. The event is open to the public and will include a car show as well as games for the family. Another event that is returning for this year will be Crane River Theater’s ‘Zombies Attack! A Run for your Life!’ that will take place on Oct. 24.

Stevens said a new event this year will be the kid-friendly Halloween Fest the morning of Oct. 24. The Archway is planning the inaugural Halloween Fest to coincide with the zombie run on Oct 24. Stevens said, “With Halloween Fest, we’re planning an entire day for family fun. Kids will be able to enjoy a haunted maze, cookie decorating and more in the morning. Then, in the afternoon, those 12 and older can enjoy the zombie run, which was a big hit last year.”
