Archway launches mobile friendly website

Kearney, Neb. – The Archway launched a new mobile-friendly website today, May 1. The website is designed to give users easy access to all Archway information from almost anywhere on any device.

Marketing Coordinator Jace Robinson said, “We plan to center all of our marketing and social media around our website. It will work on most mobile devices, tablets, laptops and computers and will give quick and easy access to any information you need about an Archway visit.”

The Archway worked with Kearney-based Hollman Media to create a website that is not only mobile friendly but also user friendly. “We streamlined the information from the old website and created areas so visitors can keep up with our social media feeds as well as see the latest video or event pictures,” Robinson said.

Along with the new website at www.archway.org, visitors can follow mascot Archie and the Archway on Facebook, Twitter, YouTube and Instagram.
